Close For GOOGLE DOCS Go paperless with this FREE Mole Conversion Practice Problem Set that will help your chemistry students with 1 and 2 Step Mole Conversions. A colorful Mole Map I've created is pasted inside the Google Doc to serve as a reference. Students will use the map colors to identify the given and unknown units in each problem, shade them the corresponding colors, and then solve. A very detailed Answer Key is included. INCLUDED IN THIS FREE RESOURCE 5 One or Two Step Mole Conversion PrStudents always have difficulty remembering if they need to multiply or divide (and by what?!) when converting to/from moles. These four triangles remind students what needs to be divided or multiplied when converting to moles, grams, molar mass, number of molecules, volume, or molarity. Instructions for use are in PDF. My students love these and I let them use them on tests. Customer Tips How to get TPT credit to use on future purchases Please go to your My Purchases page (you may need to login). This lab introduces applied Stoichiometry. Students should know how to calculate formula mass, convert between grams and moles, balance equations, and use mole ratios. If they've learned conversions but haven't encountered stoichiometry, this is a great way to introduce it. You'll need (alternative supplies below! you don't NEED lab supplies other than citric acid) Citric acid; buy this in cooking supply stores or online. Less than 100g needed Baking Soda; less than a half-cup or 100 g Balance Types: Moles Conversion - Diagnostic Testby This is a 14 question diagnostic assessment I use at the beginning of the Mole Conversion Unit. This should give you an idea on how familiar your students are with converting between units and working with the concept of the mole. Depending on how the class does you can make adjustments to how much time you plan for each concept in the unit. Demonstration Mole Conversion Cardsby These cards match the smaller student set also available here. Large set of manipulatives to be used on the board for demonstration of molar conversions and stoichiometry concepts. The color-coding of the units (moles, particles, and grams) helps show how units should be set up diagonally and cancelled out. Can be demonstrated by the teacher or with student participation. Types: Mole Conversions Cardsby Students can practice setting up basic and stoichiometric conversions from their Chemistry practice problems using these cards. Try them with magnets and have students color-coding their worksheets and notes for an extra boost. Types: Page 2 Kids always love finding something. Let's challenge your students to look for 101 animals hidden in this word search puzzle. The 101 animal vocabulary words are: Alligator, ant, badger, bat, bear, bee, beetle, butterfly, camel, centipede, chicken, chimpanzee, clams, cockroach, coral, cormorant, cow, coyote, crab, crow, deer, dog, dolphin, dove, dragonfly, ducks, eagle, elephant, elk, fish, flamingo, fly, fox, frog, giraffe, goat, goldfish, goose, gorilla, grasshopper, hamster, hare, hawk, hedgehog Page 3 Kids always love finding something.
